Which drill rig brands do you accept?

We accept all drill rig brands serving the geotechnical, environmental, oil and gas, or mineral exploration drilling industries including: Diedrich, CME, Mobile, Simco, Geoprobe, Atlas Copco, Boart Longyear, and more.

Are You overly simplistic about buying a drill?

All of this information is important and valuable. And yet, it's overly simplistic. Because you still have to sell the drill. Assuming the person is going to buy a drill--and buy it from you in particular--is dangerously arrogant and can lead to lost sales. Here's the thing: There's a lot of ways a person could create a hole:

Do you need a drill to solve a problem?

Arguably, some of these options are worse than others, but the point is, the prospect doesn't necessarily need a drill to solve their problem. And even if a drill is the obvious answer in their mind, they don't necessarily need to buy one. They could conceivably borrow one from a friend, relative, or neighbor.

Should you rent tools if you're a general contractor?

Unless you are an independent general contractor, you usually require tools to work on a one-time project. Once you are finished, the tools no longer serve a purpose except to occupy space in your garage. Hence, it is more convenient to rent them according to your needs and return them when you are done!
